The cannabis and cryptocurrency sectors are two of the hottest emerging industries, generating investor hype not seen since the dot com boom of the late 90s. It is estimated that the cannabis market will grow to as high as $31.4 billion by 2021. ICOs raised $3.8 billion in funding in 2017, and as of March 2018 that number has already surpassed $4.7 billion, with an average of almost 50 new ICOs occurring every month. These two industries will see an unprecedented amount of investment over the next few years, as both have shown that they are here to stay.
